Promoting relationship based practice

BASW England 80/20 Campaign and the Importance of Listening to and Talking with Children

Thursday 4 April 2019

7 Canon Street, Birmingham B2 5EP

BASW England is working with the University of Sussex's Talking and Listening to Children KITBAG Campaign (www.talkingandlisteningtochildren.co.uk), to support social workers and organisations to improve and develop working practices that enable and encourage social workers to spend more time working directly with children and families. This event will focus on research underlining the importance of listening and talking with children and introduce the KITBAG as a resource for practitioners, enabling them to use their time working with children effectively.

Key speakers:

- Professor Gillian Ruch, Professor of Social Work University of Sussex
- Dr. Jane Herd, Visiting Lecturer Professional Doctorate in Social Care, The Tavistock and Portman NHS Foundation Trust

Workshops:

1. Using the KITBAG in practice
2. What makes 'good practice'

Cost:

BASW members: £24 |
Non-members £48 | Students £12
(including VAT)

Full day conference, lunch and refreshments provided.

CPD 7 hours
